Context & Objectives

With their previous payment provider, Bitwig was struggling with poor localization capabilities and weak reporting, limited shopper support and lack of merchandising/marketing tools. They were looking to switch to a more flexible platform that would enable them to focus on their core business. In terms of features, they particularly wanted better localization, support, marketing and tracking tools, as well as a better API.

"We were looking for a solution that takes care of all the hassle of online selling for us so that we can focus on our core business, which is developing Bitwig Studio, our music production software. Payment methods, language localizations, support of various currencies, VAT/tax calculations: 2Checkout has it all covered, and at a very competitive price. The backend lets you customize almost everything and it looks great and is fun to use. The shop solution offers great APIs to connect to and has extensive reporting functions. And last but not least: They really care about our business and are there for us when we need help."
